Explore and Shop Close to Home

THIS GUIDE IS PRESENTED TO THE COMMUNITY as part of a larger effort to encourage Island County residents to support our local businesses and to stay safe, by staying close to home. Explore your own beautiful backyard rather than leave the county! By investing your time and money here, you help your neighbors, and ensure business owners continue to be a vibrant part of our community. Do your part to boost our Island County economy by shopping local. At the time of publication, Island County is in modified, reduced Phase 3. Thank you for taking every possible precaution to help prevent the spread of COVID-19. Special thanks to the following for helping with this project: Whidbey & Camano Islands Tourism, Island Transit, Island County Commissioners, Island County Public Health, Island County Chambers of Commerce: Camano Island, Clinton, Coupeville, Freeland, Langley and Oak Harbor.

Learn about the wonderful place you call home with these fascinating books exploring our Islands with science, anthropology and geology, illustrated with beautiful photographs and lively narratives of compelling stories about Whidbey and Camano Islands. Available at local retailers.

Support Your Community - Look Locally First

This guide offers a glimpse into the hundreds of businesses, gift items, and experiences available throughout Whidbey and Camano Islands. It highlights only a fraction of what Island County offers. Hopefully, you're inspired to "look locally first" for unique gifts and adventures. Money you spend here is invested back into our community. Staying close to home also helps lessen the spread of COVID-19. A digital version of this guide is online at WhidbeyCamanoIslands.com. More great community shopping websites are AllTogetherLangley.com and ExploreCoupeville.org.

Holiday Events

Whether virtual, outside or indoors, find safe ways to brighten the season. While many traditions have been canceled, be inspired by shimmering lights, beautiful decorations and small-town charm. Find events at WhidbeyCamanoIslands.com.

CELEBRATE SAFELY

The more people we interact with at gatherings, and the longer that interaction lasts, the higher the risk of becoming infected with COVID-19. Keep the following tips in mind as you celebrate this holiday season:

- Commit to fewer, shorter, and smaller gatherings
- Wash hands immediately upon arrival and frequently throughout the event
- Avoid indoor social gatherings (outdoor is better)
- Wear a face covering at all times
- Avoid communal food and sharing utensils
- Avoid close contact

For more ideas on celebrating safely or to learn more about COVID-19, visit the Island County Public Health Department's social media and website at IslandCountyWa.Gov/Health/Pages/home.aspx.

HERE'S A TIP...

Many businesses are offering curbside pickup or free delivery. Ask when you call in your order.

Tasty Ways to Celebrate

Enjoy Art in Open Spaces

WHILE WE WOULD TRADITIONALLY SEEK COZY INDOOR OPPORTUNITIES ABOUT NOW, the remainder of winter will encourage us to grab a coat and hat—and brave the elements as long as we can. Here are seven places to enjoy the arts in the outdoors:

1 Matzke Fine Art on Camano Island features a “gallery in the woods” that’s home to 150 works throughout the ten-acre park-like setting. A variety of meandering trails feature creations from emerging and well-known artists, utilizing a range of mediums including bronze, stainless steel, stone, wood and glass. MatzkeFineArt.com

2 The Allgire Project is an outdoor mural gallery spanning 13 walls showcasing work of nine different artists at 740 Pioneer Way in the heart of downtown Oak Harbor. Be sure to also explore the beautiful sculptures along Pioneer Way. AllgireProject.com

3 A new 16-acre outdoor museum, Price Sculpture Forest opened Fall 2020 near Coupeville. Discover the century-old forest and native plants, along with art hanging from trees or hidden behind foliage. Children are encouraged to wander, investigate and be immersed in nature. SculptureForest.org

4 Earth Sanctuary is a privately owned, public nature retreat and sculpture park created on 72 acres of old growth forest near Freeland. Peruse the trails to find an authentic Native American Medicine Wheel, a Labyrinth, stone circles and more. EarthSanctuary.org

5 Cloudstone Sculpture Park offers twenty-plus acres of pristine and natural Whidbey Island landscape filled with an extensive variety of amazing carved stone, cast bronze, monumental steel, and earthworks near Freeland. Currently the park is only open to small groups, by appointment. CloudstoneFoundation.org

6 Rob Schouten Gallery & Sculpture Garden is ready to explore in Langley. Displayed next to the gallery, it houses 17 pieces by local artists, in an attractive and inviting setting. Each sculpture has been given ample room to be enjoyed individually, while collectively forming a place of beauty, tranquility and respite from the endeavors of life. RobSchoutenGallery.com

7 Meerkerk Gardens are peaceful woodland gardens with an emphasis on rhododendrons and companion plants. Open every day of the year from 9 a.m.– 4 p.m. You are invited to wander the garden and trails near Greenbank. MeerkerkGardens.org

HERE'S A TIP...

Stop at Camano Commons to shop and refuel as you explore Camano Island. It's home to Camano Island Marketplace and restaurants, a taphouse, and coffee roaster.

Seven Accessible Winter Outings

ONE OF THE MANY PLEASURES OF ISLAND LIFE is our mild weather, making it possible to enjoy nature all year. If you live with a mobility issue, getting out may be more challenging. Yet outdoor activities are even more meaningful, and necessary, during the current pandemic.

Fortunately, many of our local parks are easy to navigate with a mobility device. Plus all Island Transit's fare-free public buses are equipped with ramps and lifts. Operating practices have changed under COVID-19. Please wear a face covering, carry hand sanitizer and maintain social distancing on the bus and on park pathways.

If anyone in your family uses a scooter, wheelchair, walker, or stroller, add a winter outing this holiday season and check out these seven accessible outdoor spaces:

WHIDBEY ISLAND

1 Fort Casey State Park

Although the fort itself is set on steep hills with narrow stairs, the park offers sweeping views of Puget Sound with an ADA-compliant sidewalk that takes you alongside the fort with accessible restrooms. Take Island Transit Routes 1 (Sat) and 6 (Mon-Fri).

2 Trustland Trail

The Trustland Trail offers an ADA-compliant, flat half-mile gravel forest loop and picnic area. There are no restrooms however. Take Island Transit Route 1 (Mon-Sat).

3 Trillium Forest

Located near Freeland, the Trillium Forest features an ADA-compliant loop trail. Part of the trail is paved and the rest is very compact gravel. Take Island Transit Route 1 (Mon-Sat).

4 Coupeville Wharf

Getting out on the Coupeville Wharf is easy. The flat wooden surface is good for wheelchairs. Those on crutches will need to watch their steps, but otherwise it's level all the way. Take Island Transit Routes 1 (Mon-Sat) and 6 (Mon-Fri) to within one block of the wharf.

5 Windjammer Park

The City of Oak Harbor's signature waterfront park is easy to access with a paved sidewalk following the curve of the harbor, a playground, sheltered picnic area, and accessible restrooms. The waterfront trail is a great and easy way to take in the area's beauty. Most Island Transit Routes go to Harbor Station (Mon-Sat) on Bayshore Drive. The park is across the street from Harbor Station.

CAMANO ISLAND

6 Cama Beach Historical State Park

The park is easily accessible including an ADA-compliant deluxe cabin. Take Island Transit Route 1 West Camano (Mon-Sat) and request the stop. Call 360-678-7771 for a pick up.

7 Camano Center

Right next to the Camano Center is an enchanting trail that is well maintained and easily reached by those going to senior activities at the center. Take Island Transit Camano Route 1 (Mon-Sat).

For more outdoor adventures visit WhidbeyCamanolIslands.com. Also, go to IslandTransit.org and download the "Best by Bus" destination trips and Island Transit's Trip Planner.

Support Your Local Bookstores and Authors

Island authors publish hundreds of books. Some write non-fiction focusing on nature, people and history. Perusing these books is one way to gain a deeper understanding of the islands. Other authors are inspired to use the islands as a backdrop for romance, adventure or mystery. It's such fun to join a character meandering around places you love and know so well.

When you buy from a local independent bookstore or specialty shop, you're supporting someone who, just like you, is contributing to our island's character and economy. So, while we're staying safe, social distancing, and sticking close to home this winter, pick up a book for yourself or as a gift. We've listed a few places here, but you'll discover others such as our local museums, thrift shops and antique stores:

- 3 Sisters Market, Oak Harbor / 360-678-5445
- Bayview Farm and Garden / 360-321-6789

Not everyone can boast the wealth of local libations like Island County. We are fortunate to have such a wide variety of small business owners committed to providing hand-crafted products and world class experiences. Personal service, combined with scenic and festive settings, create happy memories for friends and family. We recommend calling ahead to confirm operating hours and new offerings. Consider giving a nice bottle paired with a gift card, or a growler wrapped in a cozy logo sweatshirt. Some businesses will even ship. When you do venture out, masks and social distancing are required.

Overnight Getaways Close to Home

WHIDBEY AND CAMANO ISLANDS ARE POPULAR destinations for many reasons. For one, there is such a wide variety of places to stay overnight, from rustic cabins to luxury inns. During the pandemic, Island County inns and hotels have taken extreme measures to ensure guests have a safe and clean environment.

Everyone deserves a mini-break, how about an overnight getaway right here? Instead of leaving the islands, consider supporting local Island County lodgings and stay safe by staying close to home.

How about disappearing for a few nights at a local lodging, without ever leaving the county? Still need to work remotely during your staycation? No problem, the change of scenery will unleash new creative energy and inspiration.

Here's another idea. Reserve a block of rooms or a spacious house for visiting friends and relatives. What a great way to celebrate the holidays, while minimizing the risk of spreading COVID-19. Remember to follow the CDC guidelines, wear masks and keep gatherings under 10 people. For a list of great places to get you started go to WhidbeyCamanoIslands.com.
